

Transferable Skills

What are transferable skills?

Transferable skills are qualities that can be transferred from one job to another. Many individuals already possess transferable skills employers want like organization or communication. Transferable skills are typically gained through academic coursework (group work, projects, planning, presenting), and other interactions (with peers, faculty or staff). These skills are also gained through volunteer opportunities, internships, jobs, and other life experiences. You can strengthen your skills and develop new ones that employers value by applying them across various industries and jobs.

Use this checklist to identify general skills that can be transferred between jobs, departments, and industries. These are just a few of the many transferable skills you may have. Think about how you have used these skills and how applicable they are to your desired job.

What transferable skills do you possess?

□ Teamwork	□ Time Management	□ Calculate
□ Collaboration	□ Goal-Oriented	□ Persuade
 Digital Technology 	□ Result-Driven	□ Confidence
 Critical Thinking 	□ Responsible	□ Self-awareness
□ Problem Solving	□ Patient	□ Networking
□ Oral & Written Communication	□ Caring	□ Outreach
□ Leadership	□ Facilitating	□ Consult
□ Professionalism	□ Work Ethics	□ Advise
□ Cultural Competence	□ Prioritize	 Dependability
□ Organization	□ Teaching	Data Analysis
□ Advocating	□ Training	Data Tracking
□ Planning	□ Flexibility	□ Customer Service
□ Management	□ Adaptability	□ Detail Oriented
 Delegating 	□ Negotiating	□ Motivating
□ Coordinating	□ Facilitate	□ Active Listening
□ Interpersonal Skills	□ Direct	□ Coaching
 Decision-making 	□ Empower	□ Analyze
□ Creativity	□ Mediate	□ Other:

Check out this additional resource to learn how to incorporate soft and hard skills on your resume:

ResumeGenius | Skills for Your Resume: List & Examples