FRESNO PACIFIC

UNIVERSITY

Fresno Pacific University is located in Central California in the San Joaquin Valley. The university is situated on a 42-acre campus in Fresno, California, between the Sierra Nevada Mountains one hour to the east, and the beaches of the Pacific Ocean, two hours to the west.

The school began as Pacific Bible Institute in 1944. Fresno Pacific University is the only accredited Christian university founded in the southern part of California's great Central Valley. Fresno Pacific University serves not only members of the Mennonite Brethren Church but also persons from the larger church and public. US News & World Report ranks Fresno Pacific University in the top tier among Western region master's universities, and a top-10 best value in the category.

Accreditation

Fresno Pacific University is accredited by the Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges and authorized to offer course work through the Center for Professional Development. These courses at Fresno Pacific University serve a distinct audience consisting of practicing pre-school through community college teachers and school administrators.
