WELCOME TO THE MFT PROGRAM

Welcome! We are excited to have you join the community at Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary. You have chosen to enter a profession that assists people in moving towards health and wellness by exploring, restoring, and improving relationships. Our model for health reflects the values of the Kingdom of God and is confirmed in our hearts by the Holy Spirit.

As a student in this program, we trust you will test and confirm your gifts as you read, reflect, complete course assignments, and engage in discourse with faculty. Education for counseling involves the whole person – heart, body, soul, and mind – and is inclusive of both intra- and inter-personal relationships. Mastering the information presented in your courses and associated reading assignments will be critical but is only one part of your training as a new therapist. Developing an awareness of the mystery of the psyche, both as created and as cultivated, is also very important.

While here, you will be asked to align with a specific theoretical orientation that will include learning a variety of associated therapeutic strategies. These strategies help to prevent flippant, inconsistent, arbitrary, or unsafe interventions from being applied in the counseling setting. You will be involved in an intentional, stepwise progression of counseling experiences that will allow you to learn basic therapeutic skills for working with children, teens, individual adults, couples, and families. This will culminate in an intensive Practicum experience that will refine and integrate all the counseling skills learned in the classroom. This developmentally based immersion experience will help you to test your gifting for this work, your chosen theoretical orientation, your theological beliefs, and core convictions about yourself and your fit for the counseling profession.

The MFT program is intense and rewarding. Throughout the program, highly competent clinicians will supervise you. Faculty will speak directly into your life. Coursework, readings, assignments, and clinical interactions will make you aware of your intra-psychic strengths and weaknesses. As such, students are expected to engage in their own personal therapy during their course of study here. Personal development is as important as theoretical and skill development. During the Practicum year, financial assistance for the cost of personal therapy may be available for eligible students through a Therapy Assistance Fund. It is important to understand from the outset of this program that MFT students typically experience significant personal growth and change during their time here. This growth may directly impact your sense of self, calling, and all relational aspects of your life.

We are glad to have you as a part of the community at Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary. We pray God's blessings on your time here. Please read this handbook carefully as it will provide answers to many of your questions. You can find additional information regarding university policies in the Fresno Pacific University Catalog at: <http://www.fresno.edu/students/registrars-office/academic-catalogs>

HOW TO USE THE HANDBOOK

The MFT Program Handbook provides written policies and expectations for students and faculty. You are expected to know all the information in the handbook. We recommend that you familiarize yourself with the content, download a new copy at the beginning of each school year (found online at: <http://www.fresno.edu/students/seminary-students>), and then refer to it often.

Read the entire handbook once before you start your program to help familiarize yourself with the culture, policies, and procedures of the Seminary. Feel free to ask your advisor or the MFT Program Assistant if you have any questions regarding the content of this handbook or MFT program policies.

Throughout the program, questions will arise such as, “Which classes should I take?” “How many units do I need for financial aid?” “What do I need for Trainee-Practicum Assessment?” “What is Counseling Discernment and how do I prepare for it?” All these questions and more can be answered by reading the handbook. Use the handbook like an encyclopedic reference. When you have questions, consult the handbook first, even if you also ask your peers, faculty, or staff.

To navigate easily from one section to the other, use the hyperlinks in the Table of Contents and the “Back to Table of Contents” link at the end of each section.

WHO WE ARE

Description of the MFT Program at the Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary

We are Christian

First and foremost, we are Christian. We seek to be faithful disciples of our Lord Jesus Christ (Tan, 1996, 2007) as we experience the Kingdom of God. Theologically we describe ourselves as Anabaptist and evangelical. A description of what this entails may be found in the Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary Theological Witness Statement at: <http://www.fresno.edu/about/seminary/theological-witness-statement>. Based on these foundational beliefs, we are committed to training our students in Biblical Theology. Our faculty members have a living vibrant faith. Each faculty member has a significant history of experience serving the church in roles such as teacher, pastor, or missionary. Upon application to teach at FPU, all faculty are asked to affirm the MB confession of faith (<http://www.fresno.edu/about/our-mission/confession-faith>).

Based on our commitment to a Christian worldview, we require our students to complete academic courses in Biblical and Theological studies. We believe this is an important asset in fully equipping our students for their work as a counselor and do so in prayerful submission to Biblical Authority (II Timothy 2:15). We seek to prepare our students to demonstrate their commitment to live as a disciple of Jesus in Christian community, be able to articulate their commitment to a biblical-theological Christian perspective and be able to interpret their own and others cultural contexts of ministry using theological perspectives integrated with social scientific approaches. A complete description of the goals of our program can be found in our desired student learning outcomes below. We teach Biblical Theology, that is, theology centered on God's agenda as expressed in scripture rather than theology centered on a human agenda imposed upon scripture.

We are Marriage, Family, and Child Counselors

Our program views individuals, couples, and family systems from a health and wholeness perspective. Most courses are taught from a growth-oriented, developmental counseling model. Additionally, to ensure well-rounded psychotherapeutic understanding, we also require that our students master psychopathology, clinical assessment, a minimum of twelve theories of individual counseling, and at least seven theories of family counseling. Counseling has its roots in educational and developmental psychology and focuses on helping people grow. It attends primarily to what has come to be called "wellness." At Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary, in addition to focusing on individual growth, we stress the importance of understanding and addressing the systems in which our clients live – those of family, community, culture, spiritual, and religious. This is done so that we can prepare our students to practice leadership skills in marriage, family, and child counseling from a developmental and integrative perspective.

We strive for academic excellence as we teach the science and art of marriage and family therapy. Our graduates excel in their integrative mastery of the science and skills necessary to become Marriage and Family Therapy Associates. As a result, they are highly respected among their colleagues in both religious and secular settings.

Many programs present their courses in a "smorgasbord" approach where students choose their courses from a wide range of alternatives. While this certainly meets state licensing requirements, this approach neglects the importance of scaffolding in learning. Contrary to these programs, we work hard to have a program where courses build upon each other, helping our students move from elementary levels to more advanced levels in the counseling profession. Our students follow a developmental path and are therefore prepared to serve God's people as professionals in a wide variety of contexts. Graduates from our program have worked in community mental health, business, private practice, research, church, missions, and a variety of other settings.

Completion of our program meets all the requirements for a student to become a Registered Marriage and Family Therapist Associate in California. However, the program is flexible enough to enable students to meet the requirements for membership in the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT) or to be licensed in most jurisdictions around the world. Past graduates have served as counselors on at least five different continents.

We are a part of a Seminary Community

We are neither a stand-alone school nor a department within a larger traditional graduate school. We study, serve, and live alongside students who are preparing to become pastors, missionaries, Biblical scholars, urban activists, youth leaders, and church educators. In addition to studying in many of the same classes with faculty in Bible, missions, and theology, we are part of the community of Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary. In convocations, common meals, coffee breaks, the courtyard, the halls, and in many other places, we interact with other students preparing to serve our Lord. This leads to both formal and informal encounters with other professionals and believers. The informal conversations often contribute to as much growth as classroom studies. As Dr. Lynn Jost, seminary faculty, said, “Studying with counseling students makes our M.Div. students better pastors, and studying with M.Div. students makes our counseling students better counselors” (personal communication, 2007).

This placement of the MFT program within the seminary community is reflected in our integration of Biblical Theology with our counseling. Unlike other programs that teach courses in psychology, courses in theology, and then require courses in integration of theology and psychotherapy, we teach what Dr. Al Dueck, called “integrated courses” (personal communication, 1998). That is, as much as possible, all our courses incorporate elements of both counseling and theological concepts. This integration is more explicit and in greater depth in later courses than in earlier courses, but we work to include this integrative element in all courses. This commitment to integration throughout the program is intended to help the students who graduate from our program function as integrated people and to resist the cultural pressure to compartmentalize their lives. We do not intend to graduate “Christians who do counseling” but rather, we intend to graduate “Christian Counselors.” By using the term “Christian Counselors” we are not referring to what is commonly called “Biblical Counseling.” Rather, we are describing people who are what Wylie calls “God besotted,” people who faithfully bring the tools of counseling and practical theology together in a thoughtful, ethical, and consistent manner in their ministry (2000, p.60).

We Are “Growing People”

We believe that the most important tool that counselors bring to counseling is their ‘Self.’ The person of the counselor and how the counselor can relate to their clients are central tenets in the practice of psychotherapy. Therefore, our program stresses character development. This includes the development of appropriate skills for self-care in our students. Unlike many programs that only focus on teaching course content, we invest considerable energy in journeying alongside students as they mature in their own character development. This process formally begins with the initial admissions interview and continues throughout the program. Advising, coursework, labs, trainee-practicum assessment, and the ministry discernment that occurs in the student’s final year of the program are all points at which a student's fit for the field are addressed (see MFT Assessment Points for Student Fit for Program below). The small size of our program and our faculty's commitment to student excellence allows us to continually address the professional and personal issues that arise in this line of work. As previously noted, all students are expected to participate in their own personal therapy so that they may experience what it is like to receive counseling from an experienced licensed professional. This also allows students a safe place to address the intra-psychic conflicts that inevitably arise as they confront their own history considering their course work and practicum experiences.

We are the Marriage and Family Therapy Program of the Fresno Pacific University Biblical Seminary

As part of a Seminary community that is constantly growing, we are training marriage and family therapists that are truly unique. Ours is a program that incorporates theology, character development, community involvement, and academic rigor as part of a comprehensive approach to counselor education.

ASSESSING PROGRESS TOWARD STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES THE PERFORMANCE ASSESSMENT CATALOGUE

As we work to continually improve the quality of the MFT Program, we are constantly assessing students' progress toward the desired outcomes. As part of this process, students are asked to complete different questionnaires at various points in their program regarding their progress toward the PSLO's. The Biblical Seminary also collects work samples that will comprise the Performance Assessment Catalogue (PAC). As can be seen below, the PAC for MFT students consists of the following:

UNIVERSITY POLICIES

A full list of university policies is included in the FPU Catalog and on the FPU website. All students are expected to be fully knowledgeable of these policies which may be found at <http://www.fresno.edu/students/registrars-office/academic-catalogs>. Below is a summary of some policies particularly relevant to MFT students.

Class Attendance and Participation

Class participation is one of the most significant parts of the shared learning experience at the seminary. Many classes use the seminar learning method. Seminary students who miss more than 25 percent of the class time in a course may have their grade reduced by a full letter grade and may be at risk of failing the course. Exceptions to this policy may be considered because of medical or family emergencies. Both the faculty member and the Dean of the Seminary must approve all exceptions.

Revised July 21, 2023

Completion of All Assignments

Faculty often require a variety of assignments in a course so that students deal with the course material from several perspectives. Even though some of the assignments may constitute only a small percentage of the final grade, they may be significant in the total learning experience. Faculty may state in their syllabus that all the assignments must be completed to receive a passing (or other specified) grade. Students are required to keep a copy of all work that they submit. If an assignment that has been submitted to the instructor is lost, the student will be required to provide a replacement. If the student does not have a copy of their work, it will be presumed that the work was not completed and submitted.

Credit/No Credit Grades

Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) units are not calculated into a student's GPA. Check course descriptions to see if a course is graded CR/NC or if it may be graded CR/NC if a student elects to do so.

To receive a Credit grade, the work must be at least the equivalent of the grade required for program credit. If not, a grade of No Credit will be assigned. A maximum of 9 units in any degree may be taken for Credit/No Credit in addition to any CR/NC units assigned through advanced standing or courses only available as CR/NC. Students should be aware that some professional organizations do not recognize courses completed on a CR/NC basis. Students are responsible to be familiar with the requirements of their profession or future education. Therefore, COUN courses for MFT students may not to be taken CR/NC. MIN/THEO/BIB courses may be taken for CR/NC if the student elects, but only the maximum of 9 units is allowed.

Application for Credit/No Credit grading must be made by the deadline indicated in the academic calendar. Once approved, it may not be changed back to a letter grade.

Unsatisfactory Academic or Professional Progress

Students are expected to make satisfactory academic and professional progress throughout their academic programs. Satisfactory academic and professional progress is defined as earning an overall GPA of 3.0 or higher, and a GPA of 3.0 or higher in COUN courses; behaving consistently with the academic and non-academic codes of conduct; behaving in a manner consistent with professional and ethical standards and expectations and completing the program within a reasonable and specified time. Unsatisfactory professional progress may be indicated by violation of professional or ethical conduct, failure to comply with university rules or procedures, evidence of personal factors (personality, interpersonal, or intrapersonal functioning) that may hinder the student's professional competence, violation of the university's sexual harassment or anti-discrimination policies, or lack of readiness for counseling/ministry. MFT students are required to earn a minimum grade of B- in all courses with a COUN prefix. There is a limited number of times students may re-take courses to obtain this grade. Typically, students may only re-take a failed course one time. Further information regarding expectations of student conduct can be found in the Academic Policies published in the Fresno Pacific University Catalog.

Academic Honesty/Integrity

Everyone who participates in the educational process at FPU is expected to pursue honesty and integrity in all aspects of their academic work. Cases of academic dishonesty are first handled between instructors and students. Depending upon the severity of the case, consequences may range from partial credit after work is redone to expulsion from the university. As in all situations where a member of the university violates the behavioral and academic expectations of the community, opportunity for restoration and restitution will be extended to those willing to work to correct the situation and reconcile with the university community if appropriate.

Behavioral Standards

Student behaviors disruptive to the educational process may result in the student being dismissed from a class or a program.

Sexual Harassment Policy

Harassment of a student or an employee of the University by other students, employees, supervisors, or agents of Fresno Pacific University will not be tolerated. All reports of harassment will be taken seriously, promptly investigated, and addressed by FPU in accordance with university policies and procedures.

Responsible Use of Technology

The use of campus computing resources at Fresno Pacific University is a privilege, not a right. Violations of university guidelines on computer use will result in disciplinary action, which may include any of the following: warnings, loss of computer privileges, suspension, or legal prosecution.

Disability

Students with disabilities are eligible for reasonable accommodations in their academic work in all classes. To receive assistance, the student with a disability must provide the Disability Access and Education \(DAE\) office with documentation which describes the specific disability. The documentation must be from a qualified professional in the area of disability (i.e., psychologist, physician, or educational diagnostician). Students with disabilities should contact the Disability Access and Education office at disability.services@fresno.edu or 559-453-7130 to discuss academic and other needs as soon as they are diagnosed with a disability. Once documentation is on file, arrangements for reasonable accommodation can be made. For more information and for downloadable forms, please go to Disability Services | Fresno Pacific University.

Incompletes

Incomplete grades are to be issued only in the case of absence from classes due to unexpected and unavoidable circumstances, such as illness, accident, or death in the immediate family, which have made it impossible for the student to complete all course requirements as scheduled. A grade of incomplete is not to be issued for unsatisfactory work or failure to submit work through negligence. Students must petition for an Incomplete by submitting the appropriate form, available online from Registrar's Office.

My FPU (<https://my.fpu.edu/campusm/home#menu>)

My FPU is the University's Web portal and should be used to access everything related to university online content, including event calendars, schedules, classes, campus life, and email. Students are expected to check their Outlook 365 (students.fresno.edu) email on a frequent and consistent basis – at least weekly.

Student and Faculty Dispute Resolution

Occasionally a student may find cause to question the action of a professor regarding requirements of a course, teaching effectiveness, comments made in a class that seem derogatory or inflammatory, criticism of the student, general performance, or sanctions given for academic dishonesty. Students should first discuss their concerns with the instructor. If the student and faculty member cannot resolve the issue satisfactorily or if the student does not feel comfortable speaking directly with the instructor, the student should consult with the MFT Program Director who will attempt to resolve the issue. Students may also speak with the Seminary Dean of Students for resolution. Decisions may also be appealed to the Seminary Dean for final resolution.

Right to Petition

Request for exceptions to academic policies may be made when there are extenuating circumstances such as a serious medical condition, a death in the immediate family, or other traumatic, unforeseen events. Students should complete a petition form, along with the nonrefundable fee, and submit it to the Registrar's Office. Petitions will be forwarded to the appropriate academic official or committee for consideration and decision.

Privacy

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. Please see the university website for specific details.

TITLE IX EXCLUSION: SEMINARY MFT PROGRAM – RESPONDING TO PRIOR INCIDENTS OF SEXUAL HARASSMENT

The University shall consider and respond to requests for accommodations relating to prior incidents of sexual harassment that could contribute to a hostile educational environment or otherwise interfere with a student's access to education where both individuals are, at the time of the request, subject to the institution's policies.

In some cases, students may disclose incidents of sexual harassment or other sex-based misconduct during their academic program. Responsible Employees, and Confidential Resources acting outside the scope of their licensure or ordination, are still required to report these disclosures to the University's Title IX Coordinator. In such cases, investigation or adjudication of the alleged misconduct may not be required or possible; however, the University may provide the student with supportive measures and resources appropriate to the situation and consistent with the University's obligation to prevent a hostile educational environment or interference with the student's access to education.

Unique Considerations for the University's Marriage and Family Therapy

Program: Notwithstanding the above, the University maintains a professional program for Marriage and Family Therapy ("MFT Program") within its Biblical Seminary school. A critical aspect of the MFT Program is to encourage applicants and students to disclose prior instances of trauma ("MFT Program Disclosures") which may impact the therapeutic relationship students in the program will establish with clients during their practical skills training and as a future licensed, professional marriage and family therapist. MFT Program Disclosures may include, but are not limited to, prior Sexual Harassment, Sexual Violence, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, or other Sex-Based Misconduct. MFT Program Disclosures routinely occur during course assignments and as part of the academic advising provided to students by the MFT Program faculty and administration. Students in the MFT Program are also required to participate in individual counseling with a third-party provider in their final year of study. MFT Program Disclosures related to Sexual Harassment, Sexual Violence, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, or other Sex-Based Misconduct are not required to be reported to the Title IX Coordinator under this policy so long as the MFT Program establishes and maintains a policy for addressing such disclosures, consistent with this Policy. That policy, at a minimum, shall require the following:

(1) MFT Program Disclosures of Sexual Harassment, Sexual Violence, domestic violence, dating violence, or other sex-based misconduct involving a campus community member as a potential respondent, involving a potential threat to the campus community, or involving facts which indicate a potentially hostile educational environment or otherwise potentially interfere with a student's access to education are reported to the Title IX Coordinator;

(2) the MFT Program regularly gives advance written notice to its applicants and students of the circumstances when MFT Program Disclosures are and are not reported to the Title IX Coordinator, including providing examples;

(3) the MFT Program regularly provides its applicants and students with information regarding resources for counseling and reporting to law enforcement incidents of MFT Program Disclosures;

(4) the MFT Program regularly provides its applicants and students with information about the availability of academic accommodations for enrolled students with disabilities from the Office of Disability, Access and Education;

(5) the MFT Program provides written notice to its students that they may self-report prior incidents of Sexual Harassment, Sexual Violence, domestic violence, dating violence, or other sex-based misconduct to the Title IX Coordinator, that the Title IX Coordinator may provide Supportive Measures related to those prior incidents, and that they have the right to assistance from the Title IX Coordinator in reporting such prior incidents to law enforcement.

The Title IX Coordinator shall ensure that MFT Program faculty and administration are regularly trained on this section of the Policy. MFT Program faculty and administration are encouraged to consult with the Title IX Coordinator regarding whether, in a particular instance of a MFT Program Disclosure, a report to the Title IX Coordinator is required under this Policy.

Additional resources for those who are or have experienced harassment, discrimination, or sexual misconduct are available on the University's website here. Please contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns or issues related to this policy.

SENSITIVE MATERIAL

Please be advised that the MFT program at Fresno Pacific University provides an open space for the critical and civil exchange of ideas. Some readings and other content in Seminary courses will include topics that some students may find offensive, upsetting, triggering, and/or traumatizing. Examples include content regarding political beliefs, diversity and inclusion, religion, sexuality, sexual assault or trauma, domestic violence, childhood abuse, and suicidal ideation/intent/attempts/completion. FPU instructors seek to warn students about potentially disturbing content as it may come up throughout various courses but due to the nature of class discussions may not always be able to provide forewarning. All students are requested to help to create an atmosphere of mutual respect, compassion, and sensitivity. If you need reasonable accommodation due to a mental or physical disability, you may seek such accommodation through Disability Services.

MFT ASSESSMENT POINTS OF STUDENT FIT FOR PROGRAM

The MFT program is designed to develop each student in four core areas: academics, character formation, skill acquisition, and professional identity. Throughout the program, students can expect faculty to speak into their lives regarding their conduct in the classroom, at field placement sites, and on campus. The MFT faculty formally assesses a student's fit for program at each of the following junctures:

COUN 710 Introduction to Counseling

- ✓ Tolerating anxiety in mock session
- ✓ Providing informed consent and limits of confidentiality
- ✓ Appropriately and respectfully interacting with peers (offering/accepting feedback etc.)

EVALUATIVE PROCESS OF STUDENT FIT FOR PROGRAM WHEN A FACULTY CONCERN IS IDENTIFIED

If a concern arises regarding any of the four core areas of development, the MFT faculty will engage in a formal communication process with the student. This process includes discussion of the student with additional MFT and/or Seminary faculty members as appropriate. When such discussion among faculty members occurs, a student may rest assured that the MFT department maintains a strong commitment to discretion in such matters. Discussion among faculty is designed to assist the student in achieving the best possible option for remediation and resolution of the identified problem(s). At each stage of the communication process, it will be determined whether additional steps should be taken to best support the growth and development of the student. If a student maintains academic standards, but faculty members are concerned with the student's ability to perform the job duties of a counselor, the student may not be allowed to move forward in the program.

Procedural Guidelines for the Evaluation of MFT Student Performance

Review of progress for every MFT student will occur at least once each year. If a problem or concern is identified, the following assessment sequence will begin:

In the preceding figure, each triangle symbolizes a mini discernment to determine whether additional attention is warranted or necessary.

1. Concern Identified: Faculty/Program Director identifies a concern and completes the Communication Report Form (see Appendix 9). This is used to consult with the other members of the MFT faculty and advisors during regularly scheduled faculty meetings. A copy is provided to the Program Director to keep on record and to the advisor to address concerns with student. The forms are kept in secure locations according to FERPA requirements.

2. Student Meets with Advisor: The student is encouraged to meet individually with their advisor to discuss concerns and collaborate on solutions and strategies to the identified problem(s). Those solutions and strategies are then implemented in a remediation plan.
3. Formal Review of Remediation Progress: The concerns previously identified are re-addressed in a follow-up meeting with the MFT team to evaluate student progress towards remediation.
4. Student Meets with Advisor and Program Director: The Program Director, Advisor, and faculty representative (if appropriate) meet with the student to present findings, offer alternatives, and allow the student to respond and/or opt for a formal discernment meeting.
5. Formal Discernment: A formal meeting is held with the Seminary Dean or Associate Dean, Program Director, Advisor, and student to make a final determination as to the appropriateness of the student's continuation in the MFT program.

His teaching has included Professional Ethics, Individuals and Couples counseling theory, Cross-Cultural Counseling, Advanced Families, Person, Family, and Culture, Human Development, and Psychopathology.

Adam completed his Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology in 2012 at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, CA. His dissertation focused on the ethical dimension of the culture of psychology. Adam is interested in the ways in which psychology is by its nature ethical, and what this means for the practices of psychology, psychotherapy, and particularly for ethics training for mental health professionals. His master's thesis examined differing understandings of community membership among individuals from Jewish, Muslim, Protestant, and Catholic faith backgrounds. Adam also completed an MA in Theology with an emphasis in Christian Ethics.

A Canadian citizen, Adam grew up in Alberta, Canada, and lived in the greater Edmonton region, attending University of Alberta as an undergraduate student. Since completing his Bachelor of Science in Psychology, Adam has lived and worked or volunteered in Cairo, Egypt, Southern California, the Central Valley, and the Front Range of Colorado.

Adam was introduced to and joined the Mennonite Brethren church through his coming to faith in college, and has been a part of several MB, Mennonite, and Anabaptist-influenced churches in his different locations over the years. He is interested in the integration of theology and psychology, including possibilities and limitations. Both religious and academic heritage also inform his broader interest in how psychology can inform and must be informed by other fields such as sociology, philosophy, economics, history, and politics to be attentive to the dynamics of the twenty-first century.

Revised July 21, 2023

He has clinical experience in a variety of settings, including outpatient community clinic, psychiatric inpatient, intensive outpatient, and partial hospitalization, medical hospital, inpatient and outpatient substance abuse treatment, community mental health, managed care, and forensics. Cheryl and her family have spent seven years living and serving internationally in Lithuania, Czech Republic, and Zambia. Her role as a mental health consultant in Zambia entailed leading Trauma Awareness and Recovery workshops for refugees as well as developing and teaching Peace Club curriculum for primary and secondary schools. Her development work took her to South Africa and Swaziland as well. Her theological training and interest in pastoral care led her to serve as an interim pastor for one year in a local congregation.

Cheryl has taught undergraduate courses in Marriage and Family, Sociology, Trauma, Victim Recovery, and Cross-cultural Psychology. She enjoys teaching Interpersonal Communication to a cross-section of graduate students at the seminary. A highlight is engaging students in cross-cultural experiences and has taken students to Los Angeles and Guatemala as part of the Cross-cultural Counseling courses she teaches.

Revised July 21, 2023

Angela Turner, M.A., LMFT

Angela (Angie) Turner is the Program Director of the On-Site Counseling Program – a counseling agency based at FPU Biblical Seminary. She also serves as Adjunct Faculty and has taught and co-taught Ethics I, Interpersonal Communication, Lab courses, Cross-Cultural Counseling, and Practicum I & II. She has been a guest lecturer on topics including crisis assessment and child abuse reporting, and relational aggression and its role in school bullying.

Angie earned an M.A. in Marriage, Family, and Child Counseling from Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary (formerly MBBS). She holds a California MFT license. In addition to her work with On-Site Counseling, she has a small private practice where she works with a variety of clients including children, adolescents, adults, couples, and families.

Prior to pursuing a career as an LMFT, Angie served in church ministry both in Reedley, CA, and Auckland, New Zealand. Her work with adolescents in the church created in her a desire to learn how to help teens who faced traumatic situations. This led to her MFT studies and discovering of her calling to be a therapist. Angie is auntie to two nieces and one nephew. She likes to travel and collect art. She and her husband recently opened a fine art gallery in Fresno called Vernissage: Fresno's Art Rendezvous.

Autumn Lindberg, Ph.D., LMFT

Autumn received her M.A. in Marriage, Family, and Child Counseling from The California Institute of Integral Studies (CIIS) with an emphasis on Integral Counseling and her PhD. in Marriage and Family Therapy from Northcentral University. Her latest research is in permanency and resilience in foster adoptive families. She joined the FPBS team in Fall of 2012 and currently teaches Grief Counseling, Summer Practicum, Group Counseling, and Aging & Long-term Care.

Autumn currently serves as the Business Development Director for Turning Point of Central California and maintains a successful private practice in downtown Visalia. She enjoys finding creative ways to help students and supervisors integrate their theology and their counseling practice; helping them thrive in both secular and faith-based settings.

Christine Cogan-Mesa, M.A., LMFT

Christine Cogan-Mesa is a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist and a Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor. She is an Adjunct Professor for the MFT Program and teaches the Substance Abuse and Advanced Substance Abuse courses.

A mental health issue is often concurrent with a Substance Use Disorder. Christine's teaching is partly motivated by a desire to improve the quality of mental health services available to this underserved population, right here in the Central Valley. With that goal in mind, Christine prefers a practical, experiential teaching approach and she is excited when biases or limiting perspectives toward Substance Use Disorders begin to shift over the course of a semester.

Christine holds a master's degree in Marriage and Family Therapy from Western Seminary, San Jose, CA. Her graduate education - which encouraged an integration of faith and mental health - along with an undergraduate degree in the biological sciences, provided Christine a unique, holistic outlook on the treatment of Substance Use Disorders, which can have serious repercussions to the mind, body, and the spirit. Christine was fortunate to find her love for Co-Occurring Disorders early in her career and, since 1999, has always kept at least one foot in the world of drug and alcohol treatment. She has worked in a variety of settings, to include residential treatment, outpatient treatment, and community-based services. She has worked with the homeless, juvenile probationers, parolees, and, of course, the general population. Due to the high incidence and destabilizing impact of trauma among her clients, Christine also trained in EMDR Therapy (Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing) to better meet this treatment need. She specializes in EMDR for Addictions, Complex PTSD, and attachment trauma.

Since 2007, Christine has worked at Kaiser Permanente's Addiction Medicine and Recovery Services where she continues to "thrive" in her chosen vocation. While at Kaiser, she contributed to the Dual Diagnosis Committee and was Co-Founder of the EMDR Clinician Consultation Group.

In addition to teaching, Christine supports new therapists by supervising MFT Trainees and Associates. As a Clinical Supervisor, she values being part of the licensure journey and enjoys her role in encouraging personal and professional growth. Christine lives in Fresno with her husband, Moses. They currently share their home with two dogs, who have trained their owners extremely well. Christine appreciates being out in nature, close friendships, good food, and healthy living.

Her Master's degree is in International and Comparative Education. She is trained in the Systems approach, with an eye towards prevention and holistic health. She loves to encourage students to read and access resources in the community and library. Children remain an important part of her life and counseling practice. In addition, Delores' ministry and counseling experience includes seven years as Resource Minister in a congregation, two years as a counselor in the Athletic Department at the University of Iowa, and counseling practice in an elementary school setting and a family counseling center. Delores also worked as a student chaplain at the University of Iowa Medical Center for one year. She is a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist with specialties in aging, grief, sexuality, and marriage and family issues. She seeks to integrate her faith and her practical, caring style with the cultural and family context of her clients. Delores is a certified CAMFT supervisor.

Delores has authored two books: Let Love Be Your Greatest and Living More with Less Study/Action Guide. She has written chapters in several books, including Growing Towards Peace, Healing the Children of War, Sexuality: The Gift, and Mennonite Perspectives on Pastoral Counseling. She has also edited a book of sermons by Mennonite Brethren women entitled All Are Witnesses.

Delores likes to speak and lead workshops and retreats on a variety of topics. Her interests besides work include creative writing, poetry, growing roses, international ministry, and travel. She served twelve years as a member of the Board of Directors of MB Missions and Service International. Her 2001 sabbatical was spent in ten African countries, researching how the church might become more involved in service and advocacy for those affected by the HIV/AIDS pandemic.

Delores is married to J. Stanley Friesen, is a retired pastor, and adjunct professor. They are the parents of three adult children and six grandchildren.

PLANNING FOR YOUR PROGRAM OF STUDY

MFT students are required to take 65 units for program completion. Many students take additional electives, resulting in them taking more than the required number of units during their time at Seminary. Students typically take three to five years to complete their degree. Be aware that many classes have prerequisites and classes are not always taught in the same order due to circumstances such as sabbaticals or faculty leave. Scheduling classes with your advisor will help ensure that prerequisites are met. Students with other commitments often extend their course of study and find that they benefit from the extended time to absorb and integrate their training experience.

When planning your program of study, begin by mapping out a degree plan found in Appendix 2. Bring this with you when you meet with your faculty advisor and when registering for subsequent semesters. Each semester, you are required to meet with your faculty advisor for approval of your plan of study. Examples of 3-year and 4-year degree program plans can be found in Appendix 3, Appendix 4, Appendix 5, and Appendix 6. Please also see Recommended Course Sequence for assistance in planning your course of study.

If you are coming from out-of-state or out-of-country, you may experience some culture shock. Allow yourself time and space for adjustment in your first year. In addition, depending on how long you have been out of school, returning to a rigorous academic environment can be unsettling. Allow yourself time for re-entry. Utilize fellow students as a source of support and orientation.

Lectureships and Conferences provide opportunities to develop as a professional and to network with other professionals. MFT students are encouraged to attend at least one professional conference event each year. In the past, Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary students have attended the Christian Association for Psychological Studies International Conference, the California Association of Marriage and Family Therapists Conference, the American Association for Psychological Studies Conference, the Association for Play Therapy Conference, and the Fuller Seminary Integration Symposium. Academic credit can often be granted for participation in a lectureship or conference. Please check with your advisor regarding this possibility.

Thesis or Advanced Family Studies Papers

All MFT students are required to write a thesis or a series of advanced family studies papers as a visible culmination of their seminary studies. This is a process that allows you to integrate what you have learned in the program as well as a special opportunity to dialogue with other faculty and students who have pursued other disciplines. First and second-year students and students from other programs find attending these presentations stimulating and productive. Copies of theses and advanced families' papers written by previous MFT students are available in Hiebert Library. <http://www.fresno.edu/library/>. Information regarding the process of writing an Advanced Family Studies paper can be found in the syllabus for the Advanced Family Studies course.

Revised July 21, 2023

Writing a Thesis that Integrates Psychology/Counseling and Biblical Theology

A thesis is both a process and a product. It is a learning experience and growth process where the student brings knowledge and skills derived from a wide range of sources together to address one specific problem. It is a product in that it makes an original contribution to the field of counseling. Because the MFT Program and Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary integrate counseling and biblical theology, a thesis in this program should reflect a graduate-level integration of the counseling and theological literature regarding the problem studied.

An MFT thesis at Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary should normally include the collection and analysis of data. To clearly describe the process of data collection and analysis, the thesis should at least include the following sections: (1) Abstract, (2) Introduction, (3) Literature Review, (4) Description of the Methods used for Data Collection, (5) Results of data collection, and (6) Discussion. The introduction should clearly describe the research question and rationale for the study. The Literature Review should include a full review of the relevant counseling literature and a briefer, but still graduate level, review of the significant biblical and theological literature and discussion of their interaction. The Methods section describes the data collection process sufficiently to permit replication of the study. The Results section uses appropriate analysis techniques to summarize the data and draw implications from it. The Discussion section includes the implications of the data regarding the original research question, including theological implications, limitations of the study, and recommendations for further research.

A theoretical or exegetical thesis, while less common, is also acceptable in the MFT Program at FPU Biblical Seminary. The theoretical thesis should also integrate counseling and biblical theology and should follow the same structure as a thesis from the theology department. Please see the MFT Program Director if you wish to write a thesis during your course of study.

Combined Counseling and Ministry Degrees

Students who wish to pursue deeper studies in ministry may enroll in a combined degree program. Requirements for the combined MA MFT/M.Div. degree can be found with the admissions office and in Appendix 7.

Repeating Courses for Additional Units

If a student has earned another master's degree from the Seminary and wishes to pursue an additional MFT degree, you are welcome to do so. To meet the requirements for the MFT degree, some of the coursework that you have already completed will need to be taken for additional units. These courses include but are not limited to: Integration of Marriage & Family Studies, Interpersonal Communication, Theology for Integration, and Practicum. Please discuss with the professor and the program director what is appropriate for your completion of the additional units. You will be required to attend all class sessions.

Waiving Courses

For students who have completed an approved course, students may petition to have the completed course waived. An approved waiver form needs to be completed and submitted to the Registrar's Office. If a course is waived, the student may need to take additional elective unit(s) to meet the 65-unit requirement for the program. The additional elective unit may be in any seminary course and is not limited to COUN courses, but many students choose to take COUN courses to fulfill this requirement.

TENTATIVE COURSE SCHEDULES

To enable you to develop your degree plan, below you will find a tentative schedule of when courses are offered for the Fresno Main campus. These schedules may change without notice due to sabbaticals, faculty availability, enrollment, and other factors. Current course schedules may be located at <http://www.fresno.edu/students/seminary-students>.

There must be a minimum of 7 students enrolled in a course for that section of the course to remain open. Courses may close due to lack of enrollment or new sections may open due to high enrollment. All courses may be offered in face-to-face, hybrid, V-Con, or online formats.

RECOMMENDED MFT COURSE SEQUENCING

The MFT faculty has created both 3-year and 4-year recommended course sequences. These take into account unit load, prerequisites, and development as a therapist (see Appendices 3, 4, 5, 6). Examples are intended to inform students of the unit load they will need to carry to graduate in either 3 or 4 years. This information is intended to be used to make decisions about which course to take and when to meet your educational and career goals. ^{PR} next to the course indicates this course has prerequisites. When planning your courses, consider the order in which you will need to sequence your classes. See your advisor with any questions.

As Practicum is offered in a Fall-Spring sequence, students beginning in the Spring Semester will need three and one-half years to complete their program.

Your advisor may recommend various sequences of courses based upon your previous experience or learning style. It is to your advantage to collaborate with your advisor to develop your individually recommended program plan. You are required to meet with your advisor and obtain approval for registering for courses each semester.

PERSONAL THERAPY

We believe that personal therapy is a valuable experience for all our students. This is particularly true during the practicum year. Benefits of personal therapy include:

1. Having your own experience as a client,
2. Having support and encouragement as you move through graduate studies,
3. Developing insight into personal dynamics, issues, and problems that may arise during graduate studies,
4. Obtaining first-hand experience with theoretical and practice models, and
5. Discerning your personal fit for this profession.

Once a student begins Practicum, they are expected to be in personal growth therapy with a therapist who has had experience working with other therapists. While there are many well-trained therapists available in the area, most have not had experience treating other counselors. The following is a list of therapists who have significant experience in treating therapists and are comfortable addressing the spiritual issues involved in an FPBS trainee's personal growth. All hold a license in MFT, social work, or psychology and have more than five years of clinical experience. During a student's Practicum year, it is possible that some monetary assistance for personal growth therapy may be available through the Therapy Assistance Fund. This fund is maintained through donations and specifically designates monies to offset personal therapy costs for practicum students.

Occasionally a therapist on this list may provide supervision at a practicum site. A trainee may not receive supervision from their current or prior therapist. Please plan accordingly. Also, consider strongly whether you may wish to be employed post-graduation at an above-listed agency. Receiving personal therapy from someone at that agency may not be advisable.

Students should telephone the therapist to confirm current session rate. Therapists reserve the right to change their fee at any time.

It is the student's responsibility to select a therapist. You are encouraged to put considerable energy in selecting the therapist you wish to work with. Talk to senior students and your faculty advisor for recommendations.

A student may request that the practicum instructor place an additional therapist on the list of providers. The practicum instructor will determine if the therapist meets the qualifications to become an approved therapist of trainees. A practicum trainee may elect to receive therapy from a therapist not on this list, even if the therapist does not meet the minimum stated qualifications above. However, in doing so, the trainee forfeits the potential use of monies provided by the Therapy Assistance Fund.

THERAPY ASSISTANCE FUND

The Therapy Assistance Fund may provide monies to students for personal therapy during their practicum year. This fund is renewed annually as a direct result of contributions from agencies where trainees are placed, therapists, alumni, and interested individuals who are committed to student growth and development. Upon graduating from FPBS, please consider contributing to this fund to enable more students to benefit from personal growth therapy.

The Therapy Assistance Fund is not guaranteed and is limited. If your placement site contributes to the Therapy Assistance Fund, then you will be able to apply for reimbursement of personal therapy expenses incurred during your Practicum year up to a set amount. You may apply for reimbursement after the first day of the Fall semester of your practicum year. All reimbursement applications must be filed by the last day of the semester in which the personal therapy session was incurred (e.g., in the months of December and April) to be considered for reimbursement. Late applications will not be reimbursed. If a student is paid directly by their placement and the placement does not contribute to the fund, the student will be ineligible to receive reimbursement.

Please see your practicum instructor for specific information regarding reimbursement availability and amounts.

COUNSELING ROUNDTABLE

Part of the process of becoming a therapist is learning how to engage in case consultation. This involves actively inviting evaluation and critique of your therapeutic work from faculty, supervisors, and peers. The Counseling Roundtable is a formal means by which to do this for students enrolled in the Practicum courses. The Counseling Roundtable is an excellent opportunity for students in the MFT program to receive feedback on their clinical work. Please see the current Practicum Manual for specifics on this learning experience.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

Overview

The MFT program at Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary is a “terminal degree” in that, at the completion of the program, the student is academically prepared to begin a career as a counselor. The program, therefore, includes a strong emphasis on practical experience. These experiences help the student develop the skills necessary to function as a counselor and enable the student to apply the information gained in academic classes to the problems presented in the counseling room. Practical experiences are scheduled in a developmental sequence throughout the program. Students are required to comply with all pre-licensing and agency requirements before seeing live clients (live-scan fingerprinting, obtaining malpractice insurance, background checks, etc.). All costs associated with this are the student’s responsibility.

This emphasis on practical experience begins even before being admitted to the MFT program. As a requirement for admission to the program, students are expected to have at least 50 hours of supervised client contact in a counseling context. Students have obtained this experience in a volunteer position in agencies such as VORP, battered women’s shelters, special friends’ programs at a school, crisis pregnancy centers, hospital or hospice chaplaincy, or the Salvation Army Adult Rehabilitation (A.R.C.). They may have also obtained this experience in their previous employment. If you have not yet completed this requirement, it is strongly recommended that you complete placement at an approved site listed at: <http://www.fresno.edu/students/seminary-students/mft-approved-organizations> and if you have questions, consult with MFT faculty before beginning a preadmission placement to insure that it fulfills the requirements for admission.

Students enrolled in COUN-747L Counseling Individuals Lab will provide counseling for an individual adult under the supervision of a faculty member. Students will meet for analysis of this experience and evaluation of their work in supervision groups of no more than twelve students. COUN-710 Introduction to Counseling and COUN-721 Professional Ethics in Counseling are prerequisites for COUN-747L Counseling Individuals Lab. The experience in this course does not meet the requirements for trainee hours and cannot be counted toward licensure.

The COUN-736L Counseling Children Lab course provides an opportunity for students to work on their skills with children by offering supportive counseling to pre-screened participants in mentoring programs at On-Site Counseling Program or other locations. The lab typically requires a commitment of two to three hours per week – one to two hours of client contact plus one hour of group supervision weekly – for ten to twenty weeks. Students will take this course concurrently with COUN-736 Counseling Children. COUN-728 Family Violence and COUN-721 Professional Ethics in Counseling are prerequisites for this lab.

Prior to starting Practicum as a trainee, students must apply for practicum via COUN-764 and go through a Trainee Practicum Assessment.

COUN-792 Summer Practicum & Telehealth Practices, and COUN-793A/B Practicum I and II are typically taken sequentially during the student's senior year in the program. Normally, one practicum placement is with the On-Site Counseling Program and one placement is with an agency in the community. Together Practicum I and II consists of two 9-to-12-month long placements with a minimum of 10 direct client contact hours per week (five direct client contact hours at each placement site). Required time spent in individual and group supervision, documentation, assessment, training, and advocacy is in addition to direct client contact. Thus, it is typical for students to spend 20-30 hours per week in their combined placement sites. Time spent in Practicum class and completing Practicum assignments is in addition to this. Please note: Some practicum placement sites begin in May/June and continue for 12-14 months. On-Site Counseling Program placements and some other agency placements extend beyond the Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary academic calendar year. Students are expected to be at their campus/agency site through the entire contract for their site. See below for requirements to apply for practicum.

The agencies in which the student is placed are responsible for providing adequate supervision for the counseling done in that context. During your practicum experience, you are also required to attend the practicum class and meet all the course requirements described in the class syllabus.

Some students elect to take COUN-793C Practicum III either to gain additional training and experience toward licensure or certification (AAMFT) requirements. Students who are not fully prepared for the field of counseling may also be required to take COUN-793C for additional training and experience. Requirements for Practicum III are described more fully in the course syllabus.

PREREQUISITES FOR SUMMER PRACTICUM & PRACTICUM I/II

Practicum I, II, and III permit students the experience of providing direct therapeutic services under the supervision of licensed clinicians in various local agencies. In the state of California, an MFT student in practicum is referred to as a Trainee. Graduates of an approved MFT program register with the Board of Behavioral Science (BBS). Upon issuance of an official BBS Associate number, they then become an MFT Associate. After completing 3000 hours of supervised experience, Associate MFTs may sit for the exams required for licensure. Details regarding the licensure process can be found at https://www.bbs.ca.gov/pdf/publications/mft_faq.pdf.

Before a student may enroll in practicum, s/he must be approved through a zero (0) unit evaluation process called Trainee-Practicum Assessment. The evaluation process includes a mini-discernment meeting to examine the potential trainee's academic and personal readiness to enter practicum and begin counseling clients. The assessment team usually consists of three people, including the student and two faculty or staff members. Trainee-Practicum Assessment normally takes place early in the Spring semester the year PRIOR to taking Practicum.

To be approved at assessment, the student must demonstrate that s/he has been admitted to the degree program, has successfully completed at least 18 units of MFT coursework (although closer to 50 units is more typical), has remediated any MFT courses in which a grade of "C+" or below was received, and has made sufficient progress toward addressing concerns of personal character or maturity raised during discernment and advising meetings.

Students in practicum are expected to possess the necessary theoretical acumen to assess and understand their clients and to conduct effective therapy. This will generally be met by the required completion of coursework in COUN-721 Professional Ethics in Counseling, COUN-724 Interpersonal Communication & Family Systems, COUN-726 Human Development, COUN-728 Family Violence, COUN-730 Clinical Assessment, COUN-734 Counseling Couples & Families, COUN-736 Counseling Children, COUN-736L Counseling Children Lab, COUN-740 Psychopathology, COUN-747 Counseling

Individuals, COUN-747L Counseling Individuals Lab, and COUN-764 Trainee/Practicum Assessment. Also, at least one of the following should have been completed prior to starting a practicum placement: COUN-750 A, B, C, D Cross-Cultural Counseling, or COUN-752 Human Sexuality. Completion of COUN-754 Group Counseling, COUN-760 Substance Use Disorders, and COUN-744 Research Testing and Family Assessment are also strongly recommended before beginning practicum. It is to the student's advantage to have completed as many courses as possible in the program before entering practicum.

Additionally, upon entering practicum, the student must demonstrate theoretical competency in one individual counseling approach and one family therapy approach.

PREPARING FOR TRAINEE-PRACTICUM ASSESSMENT

COUN-764 Trainee-Practicum Assessment is a required zero (0) unit course. Students register for it during the semester prior to the semester the student expects to take Practicum I (typically Spring, as Practicum runs in a Fall-Spring sequence). An orientation for Trainee-Practicum Assessment is held each Fall, late in the semester (late November/early December). It is strongly recommended students attend this orientation to answer questions and clarify procedures if they plan to apply for Practicum in the following year.

Prior to participating in the Trainee-Practicum Assessment interview, students are expected to review the list of approved practicum sites, discuss them with current trainees (practicum students), and consider which site might provide the best fit for their personal training needs. During the assessment interview, the student will review portfolio materials and talk with faculty about readiness to begin Practicum. Sites which could serve as an appropriate or recommended placement for the student will be discussed. It is recommended that the student discuss potential agency placement sites with their advisor prior to the Trainee-Practicum Assessment interview.

If a student can maintain academic standards, but faculty are concerned with the student's ability to perform the job duties of a counselor, the student may not be allowed to move forward in the program.

Successful completion of the Trainee-Practicum Assessment requires professionalism and attention to detail. DO NOT WAIT UNTIL THE LAST MINUTE TO PREPARE YOURSELF OR YOUR PORTFOLIO! Writing your applications, gathering documents, and revising your curricula vitae takes time. It is unprofessional to miss or ask for an extension of deadlines for these materials.

The Trainee-Practicum Assessment Portfolio consists of the information noted below. Please prepare a digital portfolio for submission on Moodle. Your digital portfolio should be submitted by the date and time given at the Orientation meeting.

Your assessment portfolio should include:

1. Your completed Practicum Application form.
2. A brief focused biographical statement which explains what you are learning about yourself and how you would like to work with clients.

Include the following in your biographical statement paper:

- a. PGP Update – Please provide an updated version of your personal growth plan (PGP). Your PGP was written in Discerning Vocation & Calling (formerly Mentoring/Connecting) and addressed what the Seminary has termed the “Four C’s” - Character, Confessional, Context, & Capacity. The PGP update should reflect the personal and educational growth you have experienced since you first wrote the plan. What have you learned about yourself so far? Have any personal issues been raised in your coursework and/or in your dealings with faculty, staff, and other students? What things have you self-identified as impacting your therapeutic work? What are your plans for addressing these issues? How are you working at identifying and managing your own transference and countertransference? Elaborate briefly on elements likely to be brought forth in the counseling relationship as you work with clients.
 - b. Theoretical Orientation – What theory or theories are you drawn to? What types of settings or clients do you feel ready to work with? Where do you feel not ready or unprepared?
 - c. Pragmatic Considerations – How are you planning to complete your practicum year? Will financial obligations require you to work outside of your placement sites? If so, will this be fulltime or part-time status? How will work, family, and course enrollment schedules affect your availability? What self-care practices and routines will you have in place to assist you during the Practicum year?
3. A draft Curriculum Vita (CV) with all relevant work and educational experience, including professional workshops attended and membership in professional organizations. This will be used to apply to practicum sites once it has been approved by MFT Faculty. You can find additional CV information here.
 4. A professional Cover Letter explaining your interest in working for the site/agency as an MFT Trainee the following academic year and requesting an interview. You will write personalized cover letters for each site you apply to. The cover letter submitted in your assessment portfolio should be written to On-Site Counseling Program and addressed appropriately to the On-Site Director.
 5. An unofficial Transcript and two course lists should be included (for a total of three documents): (1) Your unofficial graduate FPBS transcript, (2) A list of the courses you have completed and/or will complete prior to beginning Practicum and the grade obtained in each course (this is in addition to your printed unofficial transcript), and (3) A list of planned courses projected to be completed in the Practicum year.

6. A statement regarding your Counseling Lab experiences and/or other relevant counseling and work experience. This would include an introspective analysis of things you became aware of about yourself during your time in the lab placement. In addition to this statement, please also include the graded benchmark assessments from your Counseling Lab instructors from COUN-747L, and COUN-736L.
7. A sample psychosocial narrative report from a prior course (e.g. Clinical Assessment, Counseling Children, Counseling Families, etc.).
8. A representative integrative paper from a prior course (e.g. the Cross-Cultural San Francisco World View Paper).

To summarize the Trainee-Practicum Assessment Process:

1. Determine with your advisor when is it appropriate for you to register for COUN-764 Trainee-Practicum Assessment (this typically will be a Fall semester registration for the upcoming Spring semester).
2. Register for COUN-764 Trainee-Practicum Assessment.
3. Attend the Practicum Orientation Meeting (late Fall).
4. Discuss Practicum site placement with your advisor, current and past Trainees, faculty, and/or staff.
5. Prepare your professional portfolio and application. Turn it in on time.
6. Sign up for your assessment interview with the MFT Program Assistant.
7. Attend the Trainee-Practicum Assessment evaluation interview. Dress professionally. This is a professional interview.
8. Revise CV and cover letters as directed. Follow any additional instructions given to you during the assessment.
9. Send electronic revised copies of CV and cover letters to designated faculty or reviewer.
10. Obtain approval to send out CV and cover letters.
11. Apply to Practicum sites. (See Application Procedure for Practicum).

APPLICATION PROCEDURE FOR PRACTICUM

After you have been approved for Practicum via the successful completion of your Trainee-Practicum Assessment AND your cover letter(s) and CV has been approved, you may apply to approved practicum agencies. Please do not send out materials to desired placement sites without explicit written approval of your cover letter and CV.

Please note: Practicum placement is contingent upon the student's ability to pass required courses with a B- or better. Failure to pass any required courses for Practicum will result in the student contacting the site and notifying them that he/she will be unable to start placement due to his/her inability to pass required courses. The student will also be unable to register for Practicum until the courses are remediated.

Successfully passing your Trainee-Practicum Assessment does not assure you of being accepted at a practicum site or having a practicum placement for the following academic year. This is a highly competitive job market, and you will be vying for placements with students from several other schools in the greater Fresno and South Valley areas. If you are unable to secure a Practicum placement, you may be unable to advance to Practicum the following academic year.

Please note that the practicum instructor must approve all practicum sites. If you would like to serve at a site that is not included on the list of approved sites, you must complete a New Practicum Site Request Application and get prior authorization/approval from the practicum instructor. Certain practicum sites have additional application requirements. For example, Fresno County requires you to submit copies of proof of insurance, both medical and automotive, complete certain classes, and obtain certain health clearances.

The following procedure should be used for practicum site application:

1. Send your individualized cover letter with a copy of your vita to the practicum agencies determined in your assessment interview. (Note that you may not send out your vita or cover letter without approval from the practicum instructor.) Indicate that you wish to apply for placement as an MFT Trainee and request an interview with the agency program director. Wait to be contacted for an interview.
2. Interview with agencies that invite you.
3. Send a thank you note to the people who interviewed you.
4. Reception of an offer: Agencies interview for practicum placements at various times. We encourage agencies to conduct their interviews in March and April, but agencies determine their own interview period. If an agency offers you a position after the interview, you may choose to accept the offer or ask them for some time to think about the offer and a date when they need a response. You may have other interviews scheduled and need more time before you respond. How you respond is a critical interviewing job skill. You need to be considerate of the placement as you decide. Note that if you accept a position, you are expected to fill that position even if another placement site offers you a position later. As you decide which placements to accept, please note that therapy assistance funds may be available to trainees working at some, but not all placement sites. This may factor into your decision of which site to accept.

5. After you hear from the practicum agencies and decide on a specific practicum site, notify the MFT Program Assistant and the Practicum Instructor via email immediately. If you are not selected for at least two sites, please notify both your academic advisor and the practicum instructor, so that they can help you take further steps to find a placement.
6. Make arrangements directly with the accepted placement agencies for your starting date and ending date for the placement. Obtain necessary paperwork from the Practicum Manual.

COUN 770 SENIOR COUNSELING DISCERNMENT PROCEDURES FOR MFT STUDENTS

Background and Purpose

Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary is committed to walk with students through their Seminary career and to provide support through discernment, affirmation, and counsel. The senior Counseling/Ministry Discernment is the last of the formal discernment sessions a student will go through. It is designed to provide feedback to the student regarding their development as a person and a professional and to assess the student's readiness for ministry as a counselor.

Time Frame

MFT students should enroll in COUN-770, schedule, and complete their counseling/ministry discernment either during the last half of the first practicum semester or during the beginning half of the final practicum semester. This allows time for the student to address any areas of concern that may be raised in the discernment process that could impact the student's ability to successfully graduate from this program. Please consult with your Practicum Instructor as to when your discernment should occur. Final copies of discernment reports are a PAC item and must be uploaded by the student to the appropriate retention site by the last day of the fall semester. If your discernment occurs in the Spring, uploading must occur by April 1st. A copy of the final report must also be given to the student's faculty advisor by this date. It is recommended that a student upload and email a copy to their advisor the week following the discernment.

Discernment Process

The discernment meeting will be chaired by either the student's advisor or a designated faculty discernment chair. The student, in consultation with the chair, assembles a discernment group. The discernment group is typically comprised of eight to ten people and includes a combination of the following individuals:

- a. the student's advisor or designated discernment chair (mandatory),
- b. practicum instructor (if available),
- c. possibly one other faculty member,
- d. spouse (if married) or significant other,
- e. practicum supervisor(s),
- f. two student peers,
- g. family members/someone outside the field of counseling or psychology,
- h. pastor, spiritual mentor or person from the church currently attending, and
- i. any other person of the student's choice who has been significant in their growth and development.

Each student is encouraged to choose people that can speak truthfully, effectively, and insightfully into their life and psyche. The discernment group should not simply be friends who will “say nice things.” The aim of the process is to choose individuals who can speak to how the student is perceived by others, relates to others, the student's current areas of strength, and their needed areas of continued growth. The discernment group will discuss the student's gifts, seminary experience, goals for ministry, and potential places the student's gifts can best be utilized vocationally.

The student should first contact his or her discernment chair to schedule the discernment meeting. The student is then responsible for contacting the MFT Program Assistant to schedule a discernment time that works with his or her chair's schedule and the FPU room reservation schedule. The student should specify if any special technology equipment will be needed for their portion of the presentation (e.g., Wi-Fi connections or audiovisual equipment). It is the student's responsibility to provide or ensure that needed equipment is available.

Preparation for the session should include the following:

1. Choosing a Group

Submit a list of your proposed discernment group members to your discernment chair a minimum of four (4) weeks prior to your scheduled discernment meeting. Your discernment group should be approved prior to your asking any of the proposed individuals to serve in this capacity. After approval, the student may proceed with contacting group members. Provide each member of the group with a copy of the Guide for Participants in Counseling Discernment (below) and a copy of your Self-Assessment Reflection Paper which is described below. Below on page 45 is an example of a participant invitation once group members have been approved and an initial invitation was already accepted.

2. Making Meeting Arrangements

Determine if your discernment meeting will occur via Zoom or be held in person on FPU's main campus. Reserve a meeting room with the MFT Program Assistant if held in person. It is your responsibility to communicate to the person making room arrangements if you need Wi-Fi or audiovisual equipment. Often groups have light refreshments as part of their in-person discernment meeting.

3. Writing the Initial Reflection Paper

Write a Self-Assessment Reflection piece working from the outline provided below. Please note that the self-assessment is expected to reference the Personal Growth Plan written during the Interpersonal Communication & Family Systems course at the beginning of the Seminary program and updated at least once during your Trainee-Practicum Assessment.

4. Follow-up Report

The student will write a follow-up report after the discernment meeting. Both the Self-Reflection Paper and the Follow-up Report will be kept as PAC documents. During the discernment meeting, the student should arrange to have a discernment group member (someone other than the student's spouse or significant other) serve as a reporter for the meeting. A student peer is often best suited for this role. A guide for writing a discernment report may be found below. The reporter should return a written report regarding the content of the discernment meeting to the student. This report should be reviewed and approved by both the student and the discernment chair.

After reviewing the notes taken by the reporter at the discernment meeting, the student is expected to write a personal response (300 words) to the discernment meeting. This personal response should focus on the following:

- a. Reflect on what has been learned through this process
- b. Identify issues raised by the group
- c. Note affirmation received
- d. Respond to areas of group counsel

5. Filing of PAC Documents

GUIDE FOR PARTICIPANTS IN SENIOR COUNSELING DISCERNMENT Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary

Thank you for your willingness to be involved in the senior counseling discernment process for an FPBS student. The Seminary is convinced that a vital part of our ministry is helping students understand themselves and to gain insights which will guide them in planning for their future.

More specifically, we desire that it be an opportunity for:

- the discernment and affirmation of gifts
- the identification of strengths and growth areas in the domains of interpersonal styles and skills, work management, life management, etc.
- processing the fit between vocational direction and gifts/strengths
- offering counsel regarding questions which the student may have, or the group considers important
- the assessment of the student's readiness for counseling and ministry

The actual discernment meeting will involve approximately 1.5-2 hours of time, most often on the Seminary campus. It is an informal session led by the student's faculty advisor and includes reflection by the student, a time of group discussion, and concluding prayer. The group consists of about 8-10 people (typically two faculty members, the student and spouse if married, practicum supervisors, pastor, two students, one person from the student's local church, and one other person of the student's choice).

The student is expected to provide a self-assessment document to all members of the group prior to the meeting. Participants are encouraged to jot down some of their own reflections about the student and to be prepared to offer them during the session. The following questions may serve as a guide in this endeavor:

- a. What are the student's personal strengths and weaknesses?
- b. How would you assess spiritual "self-care" skills and routines (i.e., prayer, Scripture reading)?
- c. How well does the student manage life (e.g., schedule, finances)?
- d. In what ways have you seen growth while at Seminary?
- e. If married, what are strengths and growth areas of the relationship?
- f. If single, what are strengths and growth areas in this area of the student's life?
- g. If a parent, how do you assess parenting effectiveness?
- h. How do you perceive the adequacy of the student's knowledge and skills in the areas of counseling and ministry?
- i. In your opinion, what are the student's spiritual gifts?

Program Learning Outcomes

Please rate the student on a scale from 1 to 10, with 10 being strong and significantly developed and 1 being low or underdeveloped for the following degree outcomes.

Every Student Shall:

- _____ 1 Demonstrate commitment to live as a disciple of Jesus in Christian community.
- _____ 2 Articulate commitment to a biblical-theological Christian perspective.
- _____ 3 Interpret diverse cultural contexts of ministry using theological perspectives integrated with social scientific approaches.
- _____ 4 Practice marriage and family therapy consistent with applicable laws and ethics.
- _____ 5 Articulate and apply multiple, theoretically consistent counseling skills.
- _____ 6 Accurately attend and attune to self, other, and system.
- _____ 7 Synthesize and interpret relevant clinical, contextual, and scientific data to make accurate professional judgements.
- _____ 8 Synthesize integrative views of humanity, theology, and counseling to explain human phenomena and promote shalom.
- _____ 9 Demonstrate effective clinical documentation skills and produce quality academic product.

The student's spiritual gifts as you see them are...

Additional areas for counsel:

- a. How do you assess the student's progress toward vocational goals?
- b. Are there any additional issues, questions, or counsel you want to offer?

Again, thank you for your wisdom and counsel. Your investment in this student's life is invaluable.

SENIOR COUNSELING DISCERNMENT REPORTER WRITING GUIDE

The task of taking notes and writing a summary report of what was said at this event is a special challenge. Thank you for the extra time and effort this requires.

The basic purposes of the report are:

1. To provide a record of the discernment so any needed follow-up prior to graduation is noted (e.g., courses to follow a new direction, counseling, a seminar on personal development area, etc.). This report helps the advisor in making sure that whatever follow-up is necessary will not fall through the cracks.
2. To provide a record of the discernment for the student's use in composing his or her response to the discernment meeting.

FORMAT OF THE REPORT (two pages maximum)

1. List the student's name, the date of the discernment meeting, the participants, and the recorder.
2. Summarize the major points of the student's oral presentation.
3. List the key points given by the group paying special attention to the following areas. If the group makes a consensus recommendation regarding something, please note this as a "Recommendation."
 - a. Strengths
 - What are the student's strengths as a person?
 - What are the student's ministry gifts?
 - What are the student's vocational/skill strengths?
 - b. Areas for further development
 - Relational skills? Spiritual self-care? Family life? Time management?
 - c. Vocational counsel
 - What kinds of ministries, settings, or positions did the group suggest the person pursue on a short-term basis? On a long-term basis?
 - d. Areas of additional counsel
 - Please note any areas of additional counsel.

LIBRARY RESOURCES

Hiebert Library has extensive electronic resources available to all students and faculty. You may log in from any location to utilize these resources. The library subscribes to ProQuest's "Academic Complete" e-book package. This collection of academic electronic books grows monthly and includes well over 69,000 volumes. At least 500 of these volumes are directly related to family therapy or counseling, though many other available e-books will also have relevance to topics that MFT students would be studying. Hiebert Library continually updates and expands their electronic offerings.

All FPU students also have access through Hiebert Library to numerous full-text online journals and other resources through EBSCO, JSTOR, and Sage Journals Online. Of particular value to counseling program students are the ERIC, PsycINFO, and PsycArticles databases from EBSCO. Currently, the library subscribes to over 200 full-text online journals related to the fields of psychology, therapy, and counseling.

Hiebert Library is a member of Link+, a consortium of over 60 libraries in California and Nevada with over 11 million unique items. FPU library users may request items from the Link+ catalog, which will be delivered to Hiebert Library (usually within 2-4 business days) or any of the FPU regional centers (usually within 3-5 business days). You may keep Link+ books for 21 days, with the option of renewing for an additional 21 days. You may have Link+ audio-visual media for 7 days, with no option for renewal. Link+ cannot be used to request e-books or online articles. There is no charge to the library user for this service, however, books not returned by due dates will accrue fines (see library policies for details). All students have access to this service, and books can be sent to Regional Campuses. You can access more information about Link+ on the library website: <http://www.fresno.edu/students/hiebert-library>.

Hiebert Library, located on the main Fresno campus, is the primary library resource for all of Fresno Pacific University's regional centers. It serves those centers in a variety of ways.

Students at the Visalia Center may, of course, visit the library in person, though the distance between Visalia and Fresno does pose difficulties for students wishing to use the library in this way. Circulating items in Hiebert Library may be checked out over the phone by Visalia Center students and delivered by shuttle service to the Visalia Center, usually within one day. This can also be done via LINK+ services for Hiebert Library books as well as ones that a part of the Library consortium. When students are finished using the resource, they return it to the Visalia Center, from where it is shuttled back to the library. Please notify the library when you've returned an item so it can be noted to help prevent fines on your account. Visalia students can also e-mail Hiebert Library with their book request at library@fresno.edu. E-mail is preferred, and in that e-mail, the student should include the student's (1) name, (2) address, and (3) phone number Back to Table of Contents.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR FURTHER STUDY

Some graduates of this program choose to go on to do doctoral work in Clinical Psychology or Family Counseling. In the past, Fuller Theological Seminary - School of Psychology in Pasadena and Alliant University Fresno campus have granted our graduates advanced standing towards their doctoral programs. Each student is evaluated on a case-by-case basis. Please contact the specific doctoral institution you are considering and obtain their admissions requirements.

FINANCIAL AID

We strongly encourage students to be good stewards of their money and plan ahead when making financial decisions. Financial planning sites, like <https://www.myeeecu.org/home/news-resources/financial-resources/financial-planning>, may be helpful.

Graduate students, seminary or non-seminary, may or may not qualify for financial aid in the summer semester. Qualification depends on numerous factors. Some of these factors include whether the student received 100% of loan aid eligibility in the fall and spring in the academic year prior to the summer semester, there would be no remaining loan eligibility for the summer semester. A table is below to help visualize loan eligibility.

	Fall 5+ units	Spring 5+ units	Summer 5+ units
Option #1	50% annual loan eligibility	50% annual loan eligibility	0% annual loan eligibility remaining
Option #2	34% annual loan eligibility	33% annual loan eligibility	33% loan eligibility

*Annual loan percentages/amounts may be less than those written above if the student has grants and scholarships also awarded during that semester. Loan percentages/amounts are only allowed up to the student's financial aid cost of attendance.

If the student registers/completes less than 5 units for summer, they are ineligible for Direct Loans, even if there was remaining aid after the fall and spring semesters. A graduate student must register/complete 5+ units to qualify for loans. All 5 of the units MUST be units taken at FPU. Units taken elsewhere do not qualify.

If a student plans to attend less than 5 units in the summer, it would be to their benefit to divide their loan eligibility as shown in Option #1 in the table above.

It has come to the attention of financial aid staff that some students may have been told that your summer units can be added to the past spring semester or the coming fall semester; this is not the case. Each semester and the units that you register for each semester, count only for that semester.

Please remember that the above options are something that you should carefully consider when planning your academic year at FPU if you need financial assistance in the form of Federal Direct Loans. If you have any questions regarding what your financial aid options are, please do not hesitate to schedule an in-person or phone appointment with Financial Aid Counselor by calling the Financial Aid office at (559) 453-2041, or by stopping by the office on campus. The Seminary Financial Aid contact is can be obtained from the Admissions Director.

Mental Health Loan Assumption Program

https://explorehealthcareers.org/funding_opportunity/mental-health-loan-assumption-program-mhlap/

The MHLAP is jointly administered by the Health Professions Education Foundation (Foundation) and the California Department of Mental Health (DMH) and is funded $2.5 million annually by the Mental Health Services Act. Background:

MHLAP was created by the Mental Health Services Act (Act), passed by California voters in November 2004. The Act provided funding to develop a loan forgiveness program in order to retain qualified professionals working within the Public Mental Health System (PMHS). Through the Workforce Education and Training component of the Act, $10 million is allocated yearly to loan assumption awards. As award recipient may receive up to $10,000 to repay educational loans in exchange for a 12-month service obligation in a hard-to-fill or retain position within the County PMHS.

Eligible Professions:

Counties determine which professions are eligible for their County's hard-to-fill or retain positions. Some of the eligible professions include, but are not limited to, Registered or Licensed Psychologists, Registered or Licensed Psychiatrists, Postdoctoral Psychological Assistants, Postdoctoral Psychological Trainees, Registered or Licensed Professional Clinical Counselors, Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor Interns, and Registered or Licensed Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioners in California. CONFERENCES AND WORKSHOPS

FPBS: The MFT Program sponsors guest lectureships on campus. Other out-of-town and out-of-state persons also come to our campus occasionally as adjunct professors. This gives students a chance to interact with and learn from outstanding professionals who integrate faith and counseling theories.

LOCAL, REGIONAL, STATE, NATIONAL: In addition to FPBS sponsored events, there are opportunities to expand your education and networking circles through local, regional, statewide, and national conferences. Every MFT student is strongly encouraged to participate in at least one professional conference or event off campus each year. Information regarding conferences is posted on the bulletin board in the hallway near the BC Lounge, announced in the Pipeline, or posted on the FPBS Facebook page. Conference information may also be found in professional magazines and journals. If you hear of other good events, please post them on the Fresno Pacific Biblical Seminary Facebook page or inform MFT faculty or staff, so other students may be notified.

The local San Joaquin CAMFT Chapter has regular events that can be found on their website at: <http://camft-csjvchapter.org/chapter-events/>.

Some other local agencies or organizations that regularly sponsor events include Kings View, Fresno Community Hospital, St. Agnes Hospital, and the Sullivan Center for Children. Tulare County sponsors an annual Child Abuse Conference at the Visalia Convention Center every spring. Their Facebook page is the most active website for information on upcoming events. Alliant International University and California State University at Fresno also provide CEU courses, and guest lectures, which FPBS students are welcome to attend.

Because of Fresno's proximity to both San Francisco and Los Angeles, there are innumerable regional and national conferences and training courses available within a few hours driving distance. Fuller Seminary sponsors the Integration Symposium every February. The CAMFT conference alternates meeting in either the Los Angeles or San Francisco area each spring. The Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference is often scheduled in southern California. These are outstanding opportunities to meet authors and world-renowned family therapists. Sometimes conference fees are waived for students who are willing to serve as volunteers.

LICENSING AND CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

Getting a degree in marriage and family therapy is a very important part of your preparation as a therapist. However, it is only the beginning of your training as a therapist since regulation, certification, or licensure is required for all persons who offer services in the public domain.

Licensing requirements vary from state-to-state and province-to-province. Students are advised to obtain the appropriate information from locations that they intend to pursue for employment at the beginning of their study program so that any necessary adjustments to coursework may potentially be made. It is the student's responsibility to be informed and to ensure that they meet all the requirements for the region and type of licensing they wish to pursue. It is not the program's responsibility to be informed of the varying requirements. You may obtain a copy of current laws and regulations for LMFTs in California at <http://www.bbs.ca.gov/>.

AAMFT Certification

Some of our students seek membership with the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (AAMFT), which has similar but not identical educational requirements to California licensure and the FPBS MFT degree. For specific membership requirements see: <http://www.aamft.org/>

Convictions

Any felony or misdemeanor conviction, including DUIs or nolo contendere pleas, may have adverse impact on your application for BBS licensure or application to other similar licensing boards and organizations. Such convictions may become evident during the Live Scan fingerprinting process. This may result in an inability to obtain a Marriage & Family Therapy license, or even to be placed at Practicum or Lab sites. It is the student's responsibility to be informed of how previous convictions might affect the license they wish to pursue. Students have the option of informing the MFT Program Director of previous legal difficulties at the outset of the program for assistance in determining the best course of action moving forward. See the BBS website on Criminal Convictions for more information.

SUGGESTIONS FOR REPORTING COURSEWORK IN OTHER JURISDICTIONS

Below are some ways of applying your coursework to the categories required for membership in AAMFT or licensure in other jurisdictions. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Why should I participate in community events like Retreats, Coffee Breaks, Community Prayers, Convocations, and Common Meal?

Your experience at the Seminary will be enhanced by participation in community events. Community is a source of support, growth, and development. Allow the community to function as it should. Connect with others. Part of the vision of the MFT program and FPBS is for our students to be personally formed by their Seminary community. We value the relationship among students, faculty, local churches, and global church communities.

Coffee Breaks are sponsored by the Student Leadership Team. The time varies each semester and is chosen based upon class enrollment to maximize the number of people able to attend. Snacks and coffee are provided for students for an informal time to chat and socialize. Connect with people in your class or the class across the hall to improve your community experience.

Seminary Convocation is held at the beginning of the fall and spring semesters and is a great way to commune in worship with fellow Seminary students. This event offers opportunities to hear how God has inspired faculty, staff, and fellow students as they lead worship, song, prayers, and preaching. It is also a time where the community gathers for exhortation and prayer, and where community news, events, and announcements are made.

Common Meal is a dinner being offered weekly in the B.C. Lounge, health restrictions permitting. Faculty, staff, and students participate in Common Meal to discuss Seminary life, take a break, and enjoy some time together. It is a good time to ask miscellaneous questions about classes, assignments, group projects, or just vent about that test just taken or that big paper coming up. We view common meal as a large part of seminary community life. There is no cost at the time of the meal, as common meal is funded through student activity fees. Activities like Common Meal are designed to help facilitate connection in the community. Take advantage of these opportunities to get to know the people around you during your Seminary education.

What is Module Week?

Module week is one of several opportunities for students to take intensive courses both on and off campus. This week occurs once during the fall semester and once during the spring semester and often features topics of special interest to MFT students.

I understand that sometimes students interested in Pastoral Counseling are first admitted to another degree in the Seminary rather than directly into the MFT program. Why is this?

The criteria for direct admission to the MFT program can be found in the FPBS catalog. In brief, these are: a) Completion of a B.A. degree (preferably in social sciences); b) Submission of GRE scores; c) Significant counseling/life experience; d) Evidence of personal well-being; and e) Undergraduate courses in Introduction to Psychology, Human Development, and Abnormal Psychology or Completion of the GRE Advanced Psychology Exam at the 50th percentile or better. If a student does not meet these criteria, other options, including the opportunity to take MFT coursework, become available through other certificates or degrees in the Seminary. Once these requirements are met, the student may transfer into the MFT program with no penalty.

I understand that I can do the M.A. MFT degree or the M.Div. Pastoral Counseling program or both. What is the difference?

There are several degree programs at the seminary: M.A. MFT, M.A. Theology or Biblical Studies, M.A. in New Testament, M.A. in Old Testament, M.A. in Urban Mission, M.A. in Christian Ministry, and M.Div. Master of Divinity. There are students who complete both an MFT degree and one of the others. See Appendix 7 for one example. The major difference is that the M.Div. has 90 units instead of 65 units of course work, but the M.Div. can be tailored to meet the student's own particular gifts, interests, and vocational objectives. The MFT M.A. is more narrowly defined with almost all of the coursework specified. M.Div. students also need to take a Biblical language and complete a supervised ministry experience. For AAPC certification, the M.Div. is the preferred degree. It is also a more adequate preparation for the kinds of work and expectations of a congregation for pastoral counselors, or in some Christian counseling settings. Some of our M.Div. pastoral counseling graduates hold church staff positions while others have served in overseas missions, hospitals, nursing homes, prisons, and Christian counseling centers.

How long will it take to complete the MFT Program if I go full-time or part-time?

The fastest a student can complete the MFT Program if going full-time is three years, unless you have extensive background/experience or a previous master's degree or significant transfer credit from another graduate institution. Typically, students take longer than this. The external responsibilities a student carries (family, employment, personal responsibilities, etc.), and the student's ability to process information also affect the time it takes to complete the program. Some students retain information at a higher rate and can comfortably carry a heavier load than others. Students often remain in Fresno for at least part of the summer, to take classes and to begin practicum hours. Some students find they benefit significantly from extending their program of study.

Students are still considered full-time for financial aid purposes if taking a minimum of 5 units per semester. The program can be completed within 3 1/2 to 4 years, by taking 6-9 units per semester, depending on scheduling and sequencing of coursework. See examples of the 3-year and 4-year plans in Appendices 3/5 and Appendices 4/6. It is also possible to collect some hours as an MFT Trainee towards your California license while you are a student if this fits your career goals. With the additional time needed to collect 3000 hours under supervision, most people need four to six years, including their M.A. study program and internship, to reach readiness for licensing in California.

How flexible is the program?

The program is very flexible in some ways and very specific in other ways. The Seminary, for example, requires foundational Biblical/theological studies and personal/social formation courses THEO-712 Story of the Church & It's Theology, COUN-724 Interpersonal Communication & Family Systems, THEO-730 Discipleship and Ethics, and COUN-750A/D Cross-Cultural Counseling/Encounter for every student.

The state of California requires specific instruction in several areas of study, and these make up most of the remaining units in the MFT program. Thus, there is little room for elective courses or substitutions unless a student is not pursuing California licensure or comes into the program with transfer credits, advanced standing, or graduate study that would qualify for testing out of certain requirements. However, there is a limit of 9 credits that may be earned in this manner. In addition, students must sustain a B level grade or better in COUN courses. Students must also be willing and open to deal with personal issues in personal therapy and be committed to integrative studies.

Classes are typically offered in a rotating manner, but some classes are only offered at certain times and certain days. You may need to be flexible in adjusting your personal or work schedule to accommodate the requirements for the program. Because you have more courses to choose from, the beginning of the program tends to be the most flexible, and it gets less flexible as you progress in the program.

What kind of therapists does FPBS hope to train?

FPBS seeks to train therapists who:

- Have and are developing Christian character
- Take care of their soul
- Are informed of the major approaches and research relating to counseling issues and interventions
- Are skilled as beginning therapists
- Are committed to dialogue between psychology and theology
- Are active in the church community
- Are active in the professional community of counselors
- Are committed to mission and ministry

See the Desired Student Learning Outcomes (PSLOs) for more specific goals.

Is the program designed for training in Clinical or Pastoral Counseling?

First, we should define Pastoral Counseling. Pastoral counseling is counseling from a pastoral point of view. It takes seriously both the needs of the counselee and a faith tradition. Pastoral Counseling is not evangelism, as its intended goal is to bring healing. The FPBS MFT Program is designed to train people both for clinical and for pastoral counseling. We do not see this as something between which one needs to choose. The MFT Program is both clinical and pastoral while the focus remains on Marriage & Family Therapy. The program asks students to read in both the clinical and the pastoral counseling literature. It prepares students who wish to work either in a church setting or in a clinical setting. We prepare students to deal with the level of difficulty that a clinical setting provides from the orientation of a pastoral counselor. It is our philosophy that both pastors and clinicians need to be thoroughly trained in assessment, intervention, and prevention. The scope and focus of practice may vary considerably, and clinical counselors often do more in-depth work, while a pastoral counselor in a congregational setting may focus more on crisis, premarital, and family counseling. Both professions deal with problems of evil, faith, spirituality, and healing. Pastoral counseling is an approach to counseling which openly and freely acknowledges God's presence and power in the process of conversation, confrontation, and healing. It focuses on growth, transformation, change, and justice. Pastoral counselors have a responsibility to be advocates for the poor, dispossessed, abused, and will work to change the evil systems and powers causing oppression and pain, in addition to ministering to hurting people. That is, it is not enough to help people adjust to what is – a counselor in the Kingdom of God works to empower others through the grace and power of the Gospel until God reigns throughout our world.

How much of the program includes practical experience?

There is an attempt to keep practical experience wedded closely to study and theory in the FPBS MFT program. Classes vary, however, in the kinds and amount of practical application they employ. Certain subjects and professors demand more of a hands-on approach to learning while others require more mastery of facts, texts, and theory. Students begin with observation, interviews, and using their emerging skills in protected settings within the courses themselves. Typically, in the first year, the student will begin to have practical experience through COUN-747L Counseling Individuals Lab. More experience will be gained the following year in COUN-736L Counseling Children Lab course. During the final year, students will complete the required hours of counseling practicum, typically at two placement sites within the community. Practicum III is also available. See the practical experience flowchart for a visual representation.

How long do practicum contracts last?

In the Practicum year, students will need to plan to stay at their practicum sites as long as the agency or school contract requires. Working through the public-school year or a full calendar year of twelve months (three additional months) may be required at some sites instead of the nine-month FPBS school and practicum calendar. This means that you may be expected to continue working at your practicum placement site after you have graduated from FPBS. Length of practicum placement is negotiated directly with the specific practicum site. Recent graduates who have been placed at those sites previously will have practical information about site requirements.

Is there one counseling model or theory FPBS endorses over any other?

Although there is no one model or theory that is emphasized, the perspective that we advocate serves as a framework for using and choosing other appropriate theories. That basic approach assumes that we are called to build the "Kingdom of God in the church and in the world." The psychological literature and interventions learned in the program are tools that will be crucial in accomplishing this ideal. Our task is to understand what the values of the Kingdom of God are and what techniques and insights the social sciences provide to assist us towards this goal.

Students need to understand the major individual and family theories and therapeutic techniques to work effectively with a variety of supervisors and settings, and to pass the California licensing exam. FPBS encourages the integration of theology and psychology and encourages a focus on a systems approach that includes context, family of origin, community, culture, and society as well as intra-psychic and psychodynamic concerns. Because our graduates are involved in ministry around the world, diversity in counseling models taught is important. Students, therefore, are free to focus more in-depth on one or two theories and are in fact encouraged to develop their own style and theory of counseling as an integral part of their personal development while in the program.

What is required for MFT licensing? How important is it that students from other states, provinces, or countries go through the licensing process?

Getting a degree in marriage and family therapy is a very important part of your preparation as a counselor. However, it is only the beginning of your training as a counselor. All states, and most Canadian provinces, regulate the profession by a series of licensing requirements. It is important to learn the requirements of any area in which you might practice your profession at the beginning of your program (i.e., licensing requirements in other states, provinces, or countries).

In California, a person must graduate from a BBS-approved Marriage and Family Therapy educational program (like FPBS). The graduate may then apply to BBS for MFT Associate status. MFT Registered Associates work under the supervision of licensed therapists until they have 3000 hours of documented counseling experience. Upon completion of the 3000 licensing hours, Associates are eligible to take written and vignette state licensure exams. After the successful completion of these two exams, Associates are issued a state license to practice as a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist (LMFT). For many people, this is a three to five-year process and time investment after the completion of their degree.

How does the FPBS counseling program compare in general to other programs and those in secular universities?

The FPBS MFT program gives attention to the place of community in the healing process. In addition to their professional training and doctoral studies, FPBS faculty members have church ministry and cross-cultural experience. They are competent scholars, who write, speak, and do research for the wider academic, church, and world community. The FPBS MFT program has high standards of excellence and demands more of students in terms of courses in theology and Biblical studies. Although many secular materials and tests are used, there is a focus on integration between theology and psychology. Instead of teaching one model of counseling, the program encourages students to grow in faith and in their ability to critique, utilize, and integrate various aspects of knowledge and practice. There is intensive one-on-one and group supervision and encouragement to utilize personal therapy.

The program is offered in the context of a Seminary where students have contact with other students from around the world, who have a variety of disciplinary interests. This international and inter-church context is hard to duplicate elsewhere. Students in the program get to know the entire faculty of FPBS and work across several disciplines.

See the “Who We Are” section for more detail on who we are and how we differ from other programs.

What are the theoretical orientations of the FPBS MFT professors?

Our faculty members work from several different theoretical orientations. This is the result of an intentional effort to provide students with a deep and broad educational experience. Current faculty members work in Systemic, Psychodynamic, Object Relations, Ecosystemic, Biopsychosocial, and Wellness and Recovery orientations. They have had training and experience working in many other theoretical orientations.

Will FPBS help me find a counseling job after I graduate?

FPBS assists students and graduates in the placement process. However, no training institution can guarantee job security or availability. The Director of the MFT Program, faculty, and staff work together to keep students informed of job openings and are willing to assist in resume, reference, and interview preparation. Students may also utilize the career services office to find jobs, work on interviewing skills, and obtain help writing their Curriculum Vitae (CV). Students are also expected and encouraged to network with each other and with professionals, agencies, and institutions in the fields and geographical areas of interest. Professional conferences often have a job board where resumes and job offers can be exchanged. The process of Trainee-Practicum Assessment, which prepares students for applying and interviewing for practicum placement, is an important step in getting ready for job placement. Volunteer experiences are another avenue that should not be neglected.

What is APA format?

APA format is the required format for written papers in counseling classes. We encourage you to familiarize yourself with APA format. Bookmark the following resources and use them often. In addition to the APA Publication Manual that can be found on reserve at Hiebert Library (BF76.7. P83 2010), there are several online resources that are helpful.

- a. There is a document that can serve as a template for writing papers in APA format and can be found at:
www.siu.edu/~prose/classes/APAFormatTemplate.doc.
- b. Purdue’s Online Writing Lab also has an overall guide as well as citation help at:
<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/>.
- c. Last, but certainly not least, is the APA itself! Their website includes quick references to questions on citing (how to cite Facebook and Twitter!), formatting, and most popular citations. Check it out! <http://www.apastyle.org/>.

What is a FORMAL?

FORMAL is an acronym for a specific process of doing Biblical Interpretation. FORMAL is one method of inductive Bible study. This method is taught and used in Understanding, Interpreting & Teaching Scripture. These skills are built upon in Theology for Integration and are further used in Advanced Family Studies. A copy of the FORMAL guide is typically provided in each of these courses.

What is an Exit Interview and when does it happen?

Exit Interviews are held during the semester of graduation, typically during the Spring semester. The Dean of the Seminary and other faculty assist in these interviews, asking specific questions regarding feedback of the seminary experience. These interviews are highly valued by the faculty and institution. We use this feedback to change and improve the experience of students. The Dean or Dean's Assistant will contact graduates to set up these interviews in their last semester.

What is Grad Gala?

The seminary has a standing Grad Gala celebration to honor and send off graduates. Faculty, staff, students, and family of graduates typically attend, and tickets are required for entrance. Graduates typically receive a specified number of free tickets. Faculty, staff, and students pay a small amount for their tickets. The celebration typically takes place the day before graduation in the Spring semester. Guests enjoy a nice dinner, student and faculty speeches, and hooding of the graduates. The Student Leadership Team (SLT) and the Dean partner together to arrange and host the Grad Gala.

Degree Program Plan:

Master of Divinity & M.A. in Marriage and Family Therapy (105 units)

Effective July 2023

Overview

The intent of the Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT) program is to prepare Christian counselors with the knowledge, skill, and insight to practice counseling in the church or in clinical settings. The curriculum encourages the integration of theology, theory, personal formation, and professional practice. Students are expected to engage in their own personal counseling to enhance personal growth, self-awareness, and understanding of the therapeutic process in preparation for work in this field.

The intent of the Master of Divinity (MDiv) program is to prepare people for pastoral leadership, family ministry, youth work, pastoral care and counseling, chaplaincy, church planting, Bible teaching, community development and cross-cultural ministry; this degree combines classroom and field-based learning to produce personal growth in biblical knowledge, theological understanding, community building, and practical ministry experience. Under supervision, students engage in the practices of ministry for four semesters. Elective units provide an opportunity for specialization. The M.Div. is the required degree for admission to Doctor of Ministry programs and for board certification as a chaplain.

CAMFT - California Association of Marriage and Family Therapists, statewide organization with almost as many members as AAMFT. CAMFT sponsors an annual conference, publishes The California Therapist magazine, and provides insurance, legal advice, and a host of other services and benefits to its members.

CAPS - Christian Association of Psychological Studies. CAPS is a professional association of Christians who serve as Psychologists, Marriage & Family Therapists, Professional Counselors, Pastoral Counselors, Psychiatrists, Professors & Researchers, Social Workers, Psychiatric Nurses, Guidance Counselors, Students, & Professionals in Training. educational, and research opportunities that assist the profession and the community at large.

CCC/CCE – Cross-Cultural Counseling/Cross-Cultural Encounter. This Cross-Cultural experience takes place in San Francisco, Fresno, and occasionally in other countries. This course is best when taken early in the student's course of study. It is a joint class with non-MFT students, however separate assignments and projects for MFT and non-MFT students are required. MFT students take it under CCC (COUN-750) and non-MFT take it under CCE (MIN-750).

CSUF - California State University at Fresno, is located on Shaw Avenue, between Cedar Avenue and Maple Avenue. The Henry Madden Library, Kennel Bookstore, and extended education courses are a valuable community resource.

MB - Mennonite Brethren, a denomination in the Anabaptist and Evangelical tradition, whose historical tradition reaches back to Russia, Holland, and Poland. Significant portions of the denomination's churches are in Canada and over half of the membership is in other countries, especially Democratic Republic of Congo (formerly Zaire), Brazil, Paraguay, India, and Europe.

MCC - Mennonite Central Committee: A Relief and Service organization of churches in the Anabaptist Mennonite tradition. The Western Regional office is located at 1010 "G" Street, Reedley, CA 93654. Telephone: (559) 638-6911. Many counseling students use their educational packets and audiovisual resources on Abuse, AIDS, and Conflict Mediation. You may also wish to request copies of their publications: Women's Concerns Report and Conciliation Quarterly from MCC, P.O. Box 500, 21 South 12th Street, Akron, PA 17501-0500. The Canada Headquarters address is 134 Plaza Drive, Winnipeg, MB R3T 5K9. The website is <http://www.mcc.org>.

MFCC – Marriage Family Child Counseling. In 1999, the California legislature approved a name change to the licensing designation. The license now granted to a master's level trained counseling professional is that of "Marriage and Family Therapist." Prior to 2013, we chose to retain the title MFCC for our degree to reflect our emphasis on working with children and their families. While we still retain the emphasis in our program, we changed the program to MFT to reflect current terminology and make it easier for people to find our program in internet searches.

MFT – Marriage and Family Therapist. The California licensing designation and the title of the master's degree in counseling at FPBS as of the graduating class of 2014.
